

Overview

Rely on our Trade, WTO and Customs team in Mexico to help you develop and implement the innovative strategies that will keep you ahead of the curve.

If you are doing international business in Mexico, having tailored customs and foreign trade legal advice on your side can make the difference between success and failure. Appropriate planning of benefits under Free Trade Agreements, issues dealing with the origin of goods, temporary imports of equipment or materials, foreign trade zones, antidumping and countervailing duties, and the myriad of specialized rules and structures in dealing with customs are key tools for your seamless operation.

Benefit from the significant experience we have handling customs and foreign trade matters, both in Mexico and abroad, and have confidence in a legal team backed by global experience in legal traditions worldwide.
